The Expenses of the Quarantine.

A bill of some local interest was discussed in the House of Belegates vesterday. It was the bill appropriating $1,000 to pay the expenses of the quarantine established by the State Board of Health against Pittsburgh, and also of the proposed quarantine at the southern end of the State spaint. Cincinnati, The appropriation was recommended by the Commattee on Finance, and Mr. Leonard, chairman of that committee, made a motion to expedite the bill. The motion not being debatable, he merely stated some of the reasons which shade it desirable to pass the bill at once. Other gentlemen opposed the bill, and Speaker Wilson called Mr. Kennerto the chair and made one of his speeches in opposition to Mr. Leonard's motion. Mr. Leonard, Dr. Steere, Judge Ferguson, Mr. Seabright and others advocated the bill. Dr. Steere alluded to the frequency with which the Speaker vacated the chair to take part in discussions, and to the length of his speeches. This caused some amusement, for atthough many members have made similar remarks in private conversation, no one ever "spoke on it meeting" before. The Expenses of the Quarantine.

"I'd a wonder to me-tinst the true tragic power!" "I'd a wonder to me-tinst Mr. Warde didn't star long ago!" "I have seen Barrett, who they say is the typical Hambet, but 1 must say that Warde is nearly if not quite his equal, particularly in the deeper parts." "What grace, and what a splendid voice he has," and other complimentary remarks of a similar import were heard from those who left 'poye's last night, after the production of Hamlet and the first appearance of Mr. Warde as a star. His success was marked at once, and he held the andlence completely throughout. He received numerous senores, and was recalled at the close of nearly every act, and at the end of the play."

athough many members have made similar remarks in private conversation, no one ever "spoke out in meeting" before.

Most of the gentlemen who opposed the bill seemed to regard the quaranthe as intended for Wheeling alone, and wanted the expenses to be some by the local autorities. This idea was held up in its true light by Judge Ferguson and the others who favored the measure, and the desirability of the quaranthic arrangements, and its good results, forcibly shown. It was a measure set on host by the State Board of Health, for the benefit of the State, and Judge Ferguson remarked that it was a simple question whether the State would pay an honest debt legally incurred, or take refuge in the fact that those to whom the money was due have no redress.

On the 21st (Sinrove Tuesday), it is understood, the club will give a dinner.

The menu cards last evening were most assuredly novelties, and the cause of untold merripent. They were little books of six leaves bound into the cover with silk cord. lars of which, as learned from the Riverside Miller, assisted by Miss Laura Updegraff, lead Mill authorities, are as follows:

Thursday morning the towboat Iron Duke, of Gray's iron Line, left a barge of ore at the Riverside fornace, and the mate engaged Everett P. Worthington to take charge of the model harge, in order to see that it was kept allow until the steamer returned. Worthington was a man about forty years of age, and has been doing oild jobs about the mill since last November. Prior to that time, he worked for a long while with J. D. Ankrum, of Sistersville. At midnight, thursday, he was about the furnace eating his lauch and soon after took nis lantern and pole to go and ascertain the depth of water. A few moments after a scream was heard, and the men rushing down to the barge could find nothing of Worthington, but his pole and lantern were in the water. It is supposed that in leaning over the eighe he slipped and fell.

Florence in "The Mighty Dollar."

A large and representative audience witnessed the performance of Mr. W. J. Florence and company at the Opera House last night, and everybody was pleased. The play, "The Mighty Dollar," wears well, and Florence himself seems to improve with age. Mrs. Florence was not with the party, but Miss Richel Greybrook filled her role, that of "Mrs. Gen Gillory," with eminent ability, and shared the favor of the andience. The other support was even and very satisfactory, and the result was a performance which has not been excelled in the line of comedy in Wheeling for some time. The new dashes of wit and references to current topics gave the play timely interest.

the Delphos' ball Friday night was to be a masquerade. Among the improvements at the Baltimore & Ohio depot might be a lamp that would light the lower flight of stairs.

Arthur McClain has purchased a la quantity of take Erie icc. That's the ki we will have to rely on this summer.

The Republican stand, at Central avenue and Belmont street, is boarded up for private use, but the forlorn goddess is unmoved. The city conventions will no doubt be interesting. Quite a number of well known clinens are looking towards the mayoralty. The members of the Grand Army recorder. The members of the Grand Army are ordered to assemble at their hall to-day at 12:10 o'clock for the purpose of aitending the funeral of their late comrade, William Coping The smoke that hangs over part of Gravel Hill now comes from a lime kiln built at the lower end of McClain's inclined railway. Stone is brought down directly to the kiln in ing decided to celebrate its first unniversary on the 24th of March. The sister lodges in neighboring towns will be invited to par-ticipate in the exercises. Mrs. Jacob Durst died at noon Friday, after two week's sickness of typhoid fever. She had a large circle of friends both here and elsewhere, as since her husband's death site has continued the restaurant with the regularity of a hotel.

One of our oldest citizens died Friday evening in the person of James Milligan. Mr. Milligan was in his eighty-ninth year, and had lived here and in this township since early manhood. Within a few days he had been down to the stores, walking down and back up Rose Hill to his daughter's, Mrs. Thompson's, where he had made his home. Mr. B. F. Criswell has returned from New

Martinsville: \
The I. O. Rechabites will give a supper in McFadden's Hall to-night. There was quite a number from Mounds-ville who attended Fanny Davenport's rendi-tion of "Camille."

On account of the absence of Rev. Pomero there will be no service held in the Presby terian Church Sunday. Miss Maggie Keyser, who has been visiting Mrs. Sarah Cockayne, will return to her home in Winchester, Va., to-day.

Mr. Geo. Cross, formerly of this place, but now of Charleston, West Virginia, was seri-ously injured this week by the accidental dis-charge of a gun.

Mrs. W. H. Gamble left yesterday for Jackson, Mich., where she will spend some time with her friends. She will be accom-panied home by her step-son, Mr. Frank Gamble.

Gamble,

James Porter and Gene Johnson are still in jail, the necessary bail of $1,000 not yet being obtained. Much credit is due to Sergeant Brannon for his promptness in arressing Porter, whom he found at home in bed.

Last Thursday night there was an attempt made to enter the Marshall County bank. The would-be robber endeavored to gain entrance through the front door by means of a laise key. But the nightwatchman, Mr. Callett, being on the alert, fired one shot, and the burglar made off quickly.

For some two weeks past a protracted meeting has been in progress at the Pine Grove M. E. church, in the Hammondville and Irondale circuit, Rev. George Grook, pattor. The altar has been filled with penients for some nights, while a number have been converted and added to the church. Meetings in daylight have also been held, which are attended by most of the families in the immediate neighborhood. It being an old society and the people of the community mostly Methodist, the place has quite a notoriety for revival meetings of the old fashioned Methodist type—although for some years past there has been no special religious awakening.

Yesterday, about 12 M., just after services were closed and before the congregation had left the house, there was an alarm of free given, when a dense cloud of smoke was seen Issuing from what at first was thought to be a barn about twenty rods south of the church, but which proved to be about eighty rods away. On nearing the place it was discovered that a large straw stack near the barn of J. E. Lowry was in Bames, and also the roof of the barn. All the men went to work at once; buckets, tubs, kettles and pots were brought into requisition, water was carried from the spring some ten rods away, and contrary to the expectations of all the barn, a brand new building 4900, was saved. The straw stack was quite a large one, and was entirely consumed. INONDALE, OHIO,
